Elevator Pitch!
When could you use an elevator pitch?

- At job fairs
- At college interviews
- When meeting someone who may be an asset to you professionally—called Networking
- Stopping in a store/restaurant to get an application
When could you use an elevator pitch?

In job interviews-

To answer the question,

"Tell me About Yourself"
Key things to keep in mind

● Keep it short! The time it takes to ride an Elevator- 20-45 seconds

● Make it memorable- what can you say to make you stand out. Share your brand!

● Practice, practice, practice. It should sound as natural as possible.
Putting it together - step by step

Step one:

List who you are, and what you have been doing.

Could mention work or school experience, or other personal experiences that you are willing to share.
Step One:
Who are you?

Example:

- My name is Ben Hunt and I am a sophomore at Milwaukee Vincent High School. My favorite classes are those that involve computers or when I can work with my hands.
Putting it together - step by step

Step Two:

What makes you stand out from other applicants?

Certain experiences or background?

What do you want them to remember after you leave?
Step Two: What might make you stand out?

Example:

- My Dad also works as a technology specialist at his company, Kohls Corporate, and our family has always had an interest in technologies. One of my favorite things to do with my Dad is look at the newest computers and Televisions are our local Best Buy.
Putting it together—step by step

Step Three:

Where do you see yourself in five years? What are you working toward?

This should connect with why you are meeting with this person or people.
Step Three: Where do you see yourself in five years?

Example:

- I plan to go to MATC for a field related to IT or working with computers after I graduate high school.
Putting it together - step by step

Step Four:

What is your ask for this situation?

Think how you can help them, as well as how they can help you!
Step Four: Where is your ask?

Example:

I am excited to learn about what opportunities you have available. I feel like working here at Best Buy would be a great opportunity to learn about more technology and improve my people skills.
