Today We Will:

★ Explore what high-quality inclusive practices look like.

★ Explore how families can facilitate the access, participation and appropriate support needed in preschool inclusion for their student.
This policy statement, released jointly by the Departments of Education and Health and Human Services, states that all young children with disabilities should have access to inclusive high-quality early childhood programs, where they are provided with individualized and appropriate support in meeting high expectations.
Inclusion = Least Restrictive Environment

IDEA regulations provide the requirements for Least Restrictive Environment:

"Each public agency must ensure that—

i. To the maximum extent appropriate, children with disabilities, including children in public or private institutions or other care facilities, are educated with children who are nondisabled; and

ii. Special classes, separate schooling, or other removal of children with disabilities from the regular educational environment occurs only if the nature or severity of the disability is such that education in regular classes with the use of supplementary aids and services cannot be achieved satisfactorily."

— IDEA Regulations. 34 CFR § 300.114(a)(2)
Oxford Dictionary:

1. the action or state of including or of being included within a group or structure.

2. the practice or policy of providing equal access to opportunities and resources for people who might otherwise be excluded or marginalized, such as those who have physical or mental disabilities and members of other minority groups.
INCLUSIVE EDUCATION
CREATED BY DR. JULIE CAUSTON AND DR. KRISTIE PRETTI-FRONTCZAK

INCLUSIVE EDUCATION MEANS we no longer accept that separate classrooms, separate schools, and separate lives are in the best interest of any student. Separating people by ability disadvantages everyone. Belonging is a human need. Our educational system, practices, and spaces need to be reimagined.

INCLUSIVE EDUCATION MEANS every student is valued because of their strengths, gifts, and even challenges. As disability is simply... diversity. Everyone benefits from meaningful participation and opportunities to learn grade level content with diverse peers. We must trust that all students come to us as incredible whole people who do not need to be fixed.

IT IS POSSIBLE TO CREATE INCLUSIVE SCHOOLS WHERE ALL STUDENTS FLOURISH!
Benefits of Inclusive Services

★ So that children will learn the skills they need in the places they will use them
★ So that children have increased practice opportunities
★ So that a child does not miss out on any classroom activities
★ So that teachers can see what therapists do to help children and expand their skills
★ So that teachers and therapists focus on skills that will be immediately useful for the child
★ Because it is the right thing to do!
Life Long Friendships!
High Quality Inclusion

IS:
- When a student with an IEP is a valued member of the classroom and school community
- Where preschoolers with disabilities are meaningfully engaging and participating with their peers
- Attitudes, beliefs and culture

IS NOT:
- A space or place
- Something the student has to earn

IEP Development

Step 1

College and Career Ready-Individual Education Program (CCR-IEP)

A Guide to the Family’s Role

Step 1: Understanding Achievement

Present Levels of Academic/Functional Performance

The IEP team will discuss your child’s strengths and needs. The team will talk about how your child is doing in school including academics, routines and behavior. The Team will review test scores, classroom work, and observations of your child. Your team will talk about how your child compares to age and grade level standards.

Step 2: Identify Effects of Disability and Disability-Related Needs

The IEP team will talk about how your child’s disability affects their school activities in the areas of general education, reading, and participation. Then the team will determine how the disability affects their progress in school and meeting grade level standards. After this discussion, the team will make a list of your child’s disability related needs.

Family Role in this Step:
- Participate in conversation to determine the underlying needs
- Describe or explain how your child engages at home and in the community
- If your child has an invisible disability (such as hearing loss, autism, ADHD, etc.), please share with what you understand about the behaviors associated with it and describe what that looks like

Be prepared to share:
- How your child’s disability, physically and behaviorally, affects:
  - Learning
  - Peer and adult relations
  - Independence in the home and the community
- Academic success you are seeing at home
- Observations that support or are different than those shared by school staff

A Guide to the Family’s Role

Step 3: Develop Ambitious and Achievable Goals

The IEP team will write goals that will support your child’s unique strengths and needs. These goals will address each of the disability related needs that were listed in the last step. The goals should reflect high (ambitious) expectations and your child should be able to meet them within a year. Each goal will state the skill, how the skill will change, how it will be measured and what success will look like. The team will also outline how they will update families on the progress students are making towards reaching their goals.

<tr>

Step 4

College and Career Ready-Individual Education Program (CCR-IEP)

A Guide to the Family’s Role

Step 4: Align Specially Designed Instruction, Services, Supports, Accommodations and Modifications

The IEP team will determine the special education and services needed to help meet your child’s disability related needs, access the general curriculum, and reach their goals. These services will be documented in the Program Summary and include a statement of when and where the services will be provided.

Step 5

A Guide to the Family’s Role

Step 5: Analyze Progress
Your school-based IEP team members are responsible for regularly measuring your child’s progress towards meeting their goals. This helps them determine if your child is on track to meet their goal within the desired amount of time. If your child is not making progress towards their goal, the team can meet to discuss the support and services provided in the plan. Progress will be communicated to families on a regular basis.

<td>• Your preferred communication platform for two-way communication</td>
</tr>
<tr>
